

The Wednesday Club of St. Louis

30 January 1976

Director George H. Bush
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Director Bush,

I must convey to you the warm reception and enthusiastic response that Lieutenant General Samuel V. Wilson received from his speech at the Wednesday Club of St. Louis, Missouri. He changed the feelings of the group from alarm and concern about your agency to one of confidence and approval.

We appreciate the opportunity of hearing him. Should you feel that your activities need additional public support a man of General Wilson's calibre, as a speaker to other groups would certainly clarify and reinforce your position.

Sincerely,

Mrs Milton I Moldane
